

Help teach your child to Save, Spend and Share with Moonjar Moneyboxes while raising money for your school

Moonjar is a vibrant young company working to bring financial literacy to children and families around the globe. We believe the time to start the conversation about money is now and the way to start the conversation is through Saving, Spending and Sharing.

Throughout many cultures there is a respect for money's three distinct purposes; spending, saving and sharing. Moonjar encourages you and your child to develop your own personal goal, wishes and positive experiences.

The name Moonjar comes from the idea of "Shooting for the Moon" and creating Big Dreams, along with the ancient custom of placing hopes and dreams in a jar.

For more information on how to encourage your child to establish the foundations for long-term security and independence and to see a sample, please contact - Bill Hansberry

bill@hansberryec.com.au
mobile - 0416 009 806

All our products are trademarked, copyrighted, patented and created with recyclable materials.

Award winning product

Building Dreams by Learning to Save, Spend and Share

